

Erin Jenewein, OD, MS, FAAO
Salus University Health, Drexel University
Philadelphia, PA
jenhfisher@berkeley.edu
ORCID 0000-0003-4683-2796
Research Topics: Binocular Vision, Amblyopia, Myopia, Strabismus

Dr. Jenewein specializes in pediatric optometry and vision therapy. She graduated with honors and professional distinction from Nova Southeastern University College of Optometry in 2009, then completed a residency at Nova Southeastern University in Pediatrics and Binocular Vision. She also holds a Master of Science in Biology from the University of Wisconsin and a Bachelor of Science from St. Norbert College. Dr. Jenewein is an Associate Professor of Optometry and Coordinator of the Pediatric/Vision Therapy Residency Program At Salus Health, and is an active member of the Pediatric Eye Disease Investigator Group. She is a Diplomate in Binocular Vision, Perception, and Pediatric Optometry. She has an active research and publishing record with over 500 citations and 20 publications with expertise spanning retina, clinical ophthalmology, retinal degeneration, and pediatric ophthalmology.